Early withdrawal from the time deposit (if this is accepted by the Bank) is subject to deduction calculated based on the current interest applicable each time by the Bank, depending on the time of the early redemption and the market conditions. In any case, the initial principal of the deposit is not affected.
 4. In case of partial early repayment, the Bank reserves the right to make a reduction of the deposit's initial interest rate at the interest rate provided on the start date of the deposit for that balance tier.
